Bringing Jobs Back to the USA: Rebuilding America's Manufacturing through Reshoring
Insightful New Book Provides Food for Thought for Businesses Contemplating and Their Leadership Transitioning Domestic-Based Jobs to Foreign Countries

BETHESDA, MD (July 24, 2014) – MainStream Global Solutions, LLC (“MainStream”), a global management-consulting firm, announced today the release of Bringing Jobs Back to the USA: Rebuilding America's Manufacturing Through Reshoring co-authored by Timothy J. Hutzal, Partner Emeritus at MainStream. Mr. Hutzal has over thirty-five years of experience of transforming organizations into highly efficient operations through process improvement and organization development. He utilizes a unique blend of technical and organizational tools and methodologies to provide solutions beyond the traditional scope of Lean process improvement.

This groundbreaking new book tells the stories of companies that have sent their jobs outside of the USA and the negative effects these actions had on the quality of their products and services, employees, supply chain providers, consumers and communities. It examines the motivation these companies had to offshore their jobs as well as the errors of omission they made by not understanding the true cost of offshoring. Exposing the true costs of these offshoring initiatives to US organizations and citizens, the book supplies concrete processes to guide manufacturers in making offshoring and reshoring decisions.

Chuck Proudfit, President of At Work on Purpose and SkillSource Consulting, states that “Hutzal and Lippert bring a precision of presentation that one would expect of master practitioners in manufacturing. I encourage you to read this book not only as a primer on reshoring, but also as a point of inception for your engagement in the movement. How can you encourage decision makers and influencers to rally for reshoring? In essence, how can you make a difference?”
